Nominees Work At Elections But Fail To Stir Interest

Candidates Speak At Forum Tonight

AS NO MORE petitions for class offices are being accepted by the elections committee, the candidates for class offices are now concentrating on campaigning. The effectiveness of the campaigns will be proved Friday night after the ballots have been counted. Balloting is scheduled to take place in Columbian House and on Lisner Terrace on Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5. The polls will be open between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m. both days.

In order to be eligible to vote a student must present his activity book signed in ink and, at the time of the casting of his ballot, must sign the class roll.

Announcements of the official count will be made every 15 minutes at a post-elections dance, to be held in the gym Friday night at 9 p. m.

Each presidential candidate will give a three-minute speech at the Elections Forum being held Tuesday, November 2, at 8 p. m., in Room 2 of Government. Candidates for the other offices will be introduced at this time.

Petitions were accepted up until Friday, October 29, at 6 p. m. for the office of senior class secretary and freshman class treasurer, because there had been no applications for these posts on the preceding Friday.

Hospital Dedicates Cancer Laboratory

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL will dedicate a Cancer Research Laboratory Room on Tuesday, November 4. A plaque bearing the name of Edward F. Bartelt, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Chairman of Federal employees for the American Cancer Society program, will be hung at this time. The plaque honors the work of Mr. Bartelt in raising funds to fight cancer.

Mr. Bartelt and members of his family will be present at the dedication. Also present will be Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, President of the University; Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn; Mr. Leo Schmelser; Dr. Harry Kerr; Dr. Calvin Klapp; Mr. F. P. H. Sidders; and Mr. Daniel Bell.

Straw Vote Shows Dewey Holds Lead

IF THE NATION goes as G. W. goes, Thomas E. Dewey and the Republican party will be elected, according to the straw election sponsored by the Current Affairs Club in the Student Club last Wednesday and Thursday.

With 493 votes cast, the results were 188 for Dewey, Warren and the Republican party, 157 for Truman, Barkley and the Democratic party, 74 for Thurmond, Wright and the States Rights party, 42 for Wallace, Taylor and the Progressive party, and 31 for Norman Thomas and the Socialist party, plus one write-in for Vandenberg.

Dick Johnson, chairman of the Current Affairs Group, said he felt that the elections were fair and they were handled in the best possible manner.

The booth, which was sponsored in accordance with the club's purpose to stimulate interest in national affairs, was attended by Norma Evenson, chairman, Venda Sharp, Vel Dwyer, Nathalie Smith, Charles Previte, Shirley Deigan, Jean Maravelli, and Dick Johnson.

Acheson Speaks To Delta Phi Epsilon On Negotiations

DR. EDWARD CAMPION ACHESON, associate professor of finance at the University, will address Delta Phi Epsilon, on Friday, November 15, the Foreign Service fraternity, on "The Practical Problems of Negotiation." All men interested in foreign affairs are welcome to attend this address at the Delta Phi Epsilon house, 820 21st street, N. W.

Last Friday the fraternity heard the first in their series of speakers when Jack McDermott, Chief of the Division of Overseas Publications of the State Department addressed them on "The Press in International Relations."

In addition the fraternity has held their election of officers on October 13th at their first business meeting. Those elected include: E. Myrl Squyres, president; Hugh I. Martin, vice president; W. (Larry) Garges, Jr., secretary; Robert T. Ramsay, treasurer; Thomas W. Carroll, house manager; and Wm. Rockwood, national vice-president (re-elected).

The fraternity's first activity of season was the initiation of the new pledge class on October 10. The men initiated were: J. A. Agersborg, C. J. Bakker, C. M. Barnett, T. W. Carroll, C. E. Cowell, F. E. Gilmartin, R. T. Ramsay, T. D. Rorrer, Jr., and R. D. Van Briggie.

A neat innovation at the dance will be the presence of dozens of lovely Strong Hall Hostesses personally selected by Miss Sewell, the house mother. The Hostesses, it is said, will wear buttons indicating their jobs, so stags will be welcomed. The tariff for this occasion will be $1.00 stag or drag.

By virtue of summer practices and intensive rehearsals after school, the clubs have been able to prepare a program of well-balanced and varied selections, including pieces which run the gamut of religious, classical, and modern numbers.

Hillel 'Ball of Fire' Plans Announced For November 20

G. W.'S MOST HANDSOME man will be crowned "Apollo" at the annual all-University dance, the "Ball of Fire." A call for candidates for this position of campus king has been sent to over 30 organizations on campus.

"Apollo" will be crowned at the Hillel-sponsored dance which will be held at the Hotel 2400 November 20 from nine until midnight. This is the night of the important George Washington - Georgetown football game.

The handsome man who is crowned "Apollo" will receive more than just glory. He will be given with his crown, a certificate good for $30 worth of clothing at Dave Margolis' store, 22nd and G streets, N. W. This certificate is contributed jointly by Margolis and Hillel.

Last year the lucky "Apollo," Lewis Booker of the Newman Club, was crowned pin-up boy of 1947 by the lovely Homecoming Queen, Lynn Post. This year, co-chairman Norman Silverman hopes to have a pulchritudinous judge for the contest.

The music at the "Ball of Fire" will be furnished by Larry Laine and his orchestra, featuring vocalists Fran Carol and Lee Prince, with Bud Kerrick on the tenor sax.

Tickets for this, the fourth annual "Ball of Fire" will be only $2.40 per couple, so let's see you all there.

'Great Campaign' Scores Hit; Mangum and Cast Praised

By Betty B. Birkicht
EDWARD P. MANGUM, director of "The Great Campaign," wishes to invent a new degree—D. D. S. (Doctor of Dramatic Surgery)—for use with plays such as Arnold Sundgaard's Constructivist opus. Mr. Mangum performed dignified surgery on the play, tightening its continuity, speeding its action, and in general giving the playwright more what he wanted than what he asked for.

"The Great Campaign," as presented by the University Players was hailed by one critic as the finest production he'd ever seen on a college stage. Most critics on the D. C. papers had adverse criticism about the play only; they were unanimously in favor of the acting, direction, staging, etc.

Here's where we get radical. The papers didn't say enough. We think that Henry Danilowicz, as Sam Trellis, and Louise Gertz, as Emily Trellis, were more than slightly terrific. Warner Schreiner's Wallie P. Hale was a masterpiece of thoroughgoing characterization. When we get to character, we come to Martin Techner and William Hanna as Sidney Galt. (See PLAY, Page 5)

The wide range of selections are sure to appeal to a broad scope of preferences, according to director Dr. Robert H. Harmon. A girls' sextette and the University Quartette will sing.

While no published program will be available at the performance, numbers to be presented are as follows:

Program
Lo, A Voice to Heaven	Sounding

Serenade (from "The Student Prince")	Romberg

The combined Clubs, joined by the new members of the Glee Clubs for the singing of the last number.

This is the first time a Fall Concert has been given and in order to bring good choral music to as many of the students as is possible, no admission will be charged. If the evening is a success, it may be decided to make the event an annual affair. The prime desire is to create a keener interest for the Glee Club activities among the student body.

Hattie M. Strong Honored Tuesday

MRS. HATTIE M. STRONG, donor of Strong Hall, the women's residence on campus, was honored last Tuesday on her 84th birthday by a party in the lounge of Strong Hall. Miss Paula Powdermaker, president of the Dormitory Council, presented an orchid to Mrs. Strong as the girls of Strong sang "Happy Birthday."

Other specially invited guests included Mrs. Strong's son, Col. L. Corrin Strong, and his wife; Dr. and Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin; and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. U. S. Grant, 3rd.

While Mrs. Strong greeted the guests at her tea, Betty Birkicht of Strong Hall sang several of Mrs. Strong's favorite songs. Margaret Babcock was her accompanist. Later, Gloria Binzell of Staughton Hall also played.

Miss Sewell, hostess of Strong Hall, and Mrs. Lee, hostess of Staughton Hall, supervised the refreshments. The following students poured: Adeline Andrews, Marilyn Carter, Betty Ann Paisley, Marcia Roessing, Diana Roosevelt, and Catherine Wolff.

Candidates--Come Through

• LACK OF INTEREST in coming class elections is not surprising. In recent years, class offices have been shallow honors, won through personality contests with powerful coalition backing. Elections are no sooner past than class officers are forgotten, except possibly president of the senior class, who becomes somewhat more in demand at social functions, and is looked to by his classmates to go through with his campaign platform. He usually tries.

Omicron Delta Kappa, in its new apportionment of points for eligibility to membership, has lowered the value of the class offices because of the dubious service to the University performed by those holding these positions. Student activities would in no way be hampered if class elections were to be stricken from the calendar.

We would not advocate doing away with the tradition of class offices . . . but they should regain their former prestige, by becoming jobs once again instead of honorary positions. They should not be considered mere appendages for people interested in ODK, Mortarboard, and Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. We believe firmly in the campaign promise, and in seeing it through to fruition.

Tradition has produced Freshmen presidents who have directed the Freshman Follies. The Frosh president who promises a Follies cast composed entirely of Freshmen would be doing a service to his classmates.

Cooperation of officers and class members could be directed toward sponsoring recordings of the Alma Mater by the University Glee Clubs. The records in circulation are neither worthy of the music or of the Glee Club today. One way to eliminate the old problem of nobody knowing the Alma Mater would be to get organizations to purchase recordings. Fraternity and Sorority songs would be another more limited possibility.

Juniors, if they do nothing else this year, should attempt a Junior Prom.

Some class might attempt to clear up the Cherry Tree debt in an effort to prove that it is interested in presenting future Cherry Trees of the same size and quality as those of recent years.

In this election, with six persons are running uncontested, there can be little hope for student interest on any great scale. But campaign promises, tools for election in normal cases, should be put to work when

"NOW DON'T LET THIS INFLUENCE YOUR VOTE - BUT..."

Here To Stay

• COMPLETE FINANCIAL statements of the Homecoming Committee indicate a hundred dollar profit. It was obvious to those who saw that mass of people that crowded into Uline arena, that the books were going to balance in the black. Students have proven that they are anxious to support Homecoming . . . that they want to see another Homecoming next year.

It is good to hear that our editorial of last week has been taken up by the Student Council, which promises that arrangements for the use of the National Guard Armory will be effected just as soon as next year's football schedule is definitely arranged, and a Homecoming date can be chosen. Not only is the Armory a larger, more beautiful, acoustically fit place for a college dance, but it is expected to cost less than half the rental price that was paid this year.

The Homecoming Committee put the books in the black, and in addition have left a permanent reminder of their success . . . one hundred thirty dollars was spent for platforms in Lisner Auditorium, which the committee has left for use of all student groups. This item is included in Pep Rally expenses, as listed in the accounted printed on page 7.

They Deserve It

• NEXT YEAR's budget should make arrangements for extra football jerseys, for the first string, anyway. When guys like Andy Davis play the game hard enough to get completely soaked with mud, they deserve spare jerseys bearing their own numbers.

'Alumni Tag'

• CONSIDER TODAY'S student in terms of tomorrow's alumnus. Here is the representative of the University . . . the review of things past . . . the preview of things to come.

How is this possible? In the first place, the alum of any organization is a measure of that organization. In the second place, the alum's potentialities are frequently based on the standing of that organization. For years he benefits by its reputation.

The University's reputation rests with its present student who will be its future alumnus. The continued interest of this future alumnus is paramount to the growth of the University.

Through active participation in alumni groups, the graduate will help in that development. The regional alumni clubs in such places as Hawaii, Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, and Puerto Rico record the fact that the University has received the benefit of its alums.

In addition, the "Alumni Review," published four times a year by the University, is a keen reminder of the student world. It presents a vivid picture of current activities, contemporary achievements, and alumni participation. By keeping the "Review" informed, the alum remains informed.

November grads . . . keep these ideas in mind. And classes of 1949, '50, '51, and '52 . . . remember that the "alum tag" isn't too far away for any student. Do that good job of student but don't forget that important job of alum after graduation. He not only benefits by the reputation of his college. He helps build it.

candidates take office. This year's class officers, although some may walk into office with no opposition, can set examples for future officers to follow. They can make class offices something of service to the student body, and in that way gain for their offices the respect which through inertia they seem in recent years to have lost.

On Other Campuses

By HAL HART

• LAST SPRING, the Hatchet ran an editorial asking that the University keep posted on the activities and experiences of other schools who were trying, or intending to try, plans for the student rating of faculty members. So far as we've heard, the University has done nothing.

But word has reached us, via the Intercollegiate Press, of the vain attempt of one school, Washington University in St. Louis, to put such a plan into effect. The plan, which was prepared by a student-faculty group, called for the students to rate their instructors in all liberal arts courses on the basis of 12 criteria with a grade scale ranging from one to five. The results were to be tabulated mechanically and revealed only to the instructor concerned in each case, no report going to the dean.

Those members of the faculty who opposed the measure suggested that the students might conduct a poll. But Dean Stuart Queen, who favored the original plan, expressed doubt as to the practical value of such a move, because he feared that a student conducted poll would degenerate into a popularity poll. Dean Queen made the statement that the rejected plan might have provided a much needed insight into the strength and weakness of the faculty.

A student faculty rating program is also under consideration at Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa. As an editorial in the Muhlenberg Weekly points out, it must be understood that the student should grade his instructor in a spirit of bettering conditions rather than of gaining revenge for a so-called "raw deal." Another factor to be taken into consideration is that praise for a well-taught course should be given as well as criticism for a poorly-conducted one.

May we suggest that the Administration of this University keep itself informed of these experiences of other universities, evaluate them, and then formulate a policy—one way or the other—of being in favor of or opposed to a student faculty rating plan.

With elections the keynote of the week, this tidbit from the University of Detroit's Varsity News appears rather appropriate. It seems that freshman elections in their law school were held up because of "discrepancies" in the ballot box. After counting the ballots, the Election Committee discovered that more votes were cast for student representatives than there were students in the class.

Letters To The Editor

Rugged Individuals . . .

Dear Hatchet:

We of the Farkas Sports Team think your picture with accompanying comments was in very poor taste. We have the best team in the school and will prove it in the coming weeks. It won't be long before you know "who" beat the "frat" team for the school championship.

Allan Evry,

Manager, Farkas Sports Team

Ed. Note: Our photo caption of last week which is under fire, read as follows: "The above photo may look like a free for all, but it really is a football game. In fact, it is the first scrap in the Independent Intramural League, but don't ask us who's playing or where the ball is." Any of the following team-members may have appeared in the picture—your guess is as good as ours: Ends—John Neary, Jerry Angel, Eugene Hall, Herb Taylor; Guards—Bill Thrift, Warren Malkin, Carl Shipman; Center—Al Evry; Backs—Tony Caruso, Bill Peck, Joe Logan, Angelo Iondello, Harry Glaeser.

On The Credit Side . . .

Dear Hatchet:

May I take this opportunity to publicly congratulate the Homecoming Directors, Tom Dougherty, Marylyn Brownfield, and John Douglas for the splendid work they did in connection with the tremendously successful 1948 Homecoming.

After the sensational showing of spirit and enthusiasm which prevailed throughout the Homecoming festivities, I think everyone will agree, students and administration alike, that Homecoming is not only needed here at the University, but is also greatly desired.

I want also to express appreciation to all who directed and assisted on the sub-committees, for their work was, in the last analysis, the basis of the successful outcome of the entire Homecoming program. Thank you all for your time, efforts, ideas, and grand contribution to school spirit.

Bill Warner,
President,
The Student Council.

The Legende of the or

Of Stupidity
Written not long synce by

Lo, eight Gentle Dames were pricking on the plaine,
Y cladd in sloppy joes and dungarees,
Whereon old paint stayns did remaine,
The Campus Qveene was to be one of these.
Now each did weare the pin-of her sorority.
And each her chewing gum with relish bitt,
And tried to show the greatest personality,
While iolly judges three perplexed did sitt,
Not knowing which to be the Campus Qveene most fitt.

Lo, manie men along the side did stande
To gaze on their dames as on a mighty lord.
Each longed to kiss the wynner her "glorious hande,
And cheered the one that euer he ador'd.
The iudges now four dames did eliminate,
So that only four dames did remaine.
Now sad were those four dames who did not rate.
They the qweeneship now would never gaine
For see, their dungarees had not enough paint stayne.

Two more from the contest were forced to go,
Out from the plaine dyrectly both were sent;
One because her average was 3.0,
The other for her smile was too intelligent.
Of the two left, one had an average low,
And had flunked even Sociologie.
But yet she from the plaine was forced to go
And could not win for her sorority
When the last dame began to show Stupidity.

For lo, she was so very dumb you see,
She had herselfe of common sense yrent.
She could not say the alphabet from A to Z,
In foolish talk, her energy she spent.
She could euen count from one to ten.
She hated most to thinke or to stvdy;
So she the contest easily did win,
She was the Qveene and one most fitt to be,
She was the patroness of true Stupidity.

Mourning Becomes Electrolux

● THERE'S A NEW BABY at our house these days, and am I having a time with it. The name of this baby is Electrolux, and his sole object in life is to help make our home clean.

Not long ago I had a few rounds with this machine, and believe me, it's a real tiring experience. First of all, it has to be partially assembled. This requires untangling twenty feet of electric wire, fitting the four-foot flexible snout and attaching various gadgets to its end. After the wire has been laid out, plugged in, snout put in place and accoutrements attached the fun begins. Stepping on the starter brings the machine into instant and violent life. I managed to hold on to dear Electro, and after a short skirmish with its writhing snout we were on our merry way.

'We were getting along very well until apparently, the thing got very hungry. We were working together near a roll of toilet paper when all of a sudden the thing seized the loose end with an angry roar and chug-a-lugged about three feet of paper before I could stop it. I expected this to call forth violent digestive reactions, but not so, it merely smiled graciously and went back to eating dust.

The talents of my dear Electro are not confined to dust consumption alone.

For care of the hair, I'm thinking my baby can't be beat. For a thorough de-dandruffing I hold its avid maw close to my head and let 'er roar. After several minutes of this my hair is standing on end and the scalp is tingling. Then reversing the machine and attaching the spray gun I proceed to anoint my dome with a shampoo mixture of Ivory Soap, mange chaser and warm water. This done, I then take the matter into my own hands and scrub vigorously according to the old traditional plan.

My dear Electro has earned his place in our home . . . if only he could learn to cook!

Legal Fraternity Plans Dance For Fall Season

● DELTA THETA PHI, legal fraternity, will highlight its fall season with a dance at the Wardman Park Hotel on Saturday, November 6. Dancing will begin at 9:30, with music by Jack Morton's orchestra, and set-ups will be provided. Brothers and rush men may get their invitations from Earl Stanley, tribune of the campus chapter.

George Washington, incidentally, claims the largest senate, or chapter, of Delta Theta Phi, which in turn is the largest legal fraternity in the world. Officers include Stanley John Cavanaugh, dean; Al Cordon, vice dean; Chuck Wood, clerk of the exchequer; Bill Wetmore, master of the ritual; Al Graham, bailiff, and Wally Woodbury, clerk of the rolls.

Extensive plans are being prepared for the spring season and all members are invited to participate. Members have been kept busy since fall semester started with a picnic at Greenbelt Park on October 9, and their annual barbeque and beer-bust at Mr. Lohnes' estate in Vienna, Virginia, at which the G. W. chapter routed the Georgetown chapter 18-0 in an impromptu football game. A professional meeting was held October 29 at the Raleigh Hotel, with Mr. Howe P. Cochran, prominent local attorney, as guest speaker.

Brusloff Seeks 30 More Players

● G. W. LEON of 110 pieces is the dream of Leon Brusloff, band instructor. The band's present enrollment stands at 80.

"Students who play any woodwind instrument are needed now," Mr. Brusloff explains. "The band plans to play at all G. W. basketball games and we are now rehearsing for our mid-winter concert."

Band practice is held each Sunday in Studio A of Lisner Auditorium from 1:30 to 4 p. m.

Candidates Present Planks At Frosh Meet

● CANDIDATES for Freshman class offices were introduced at a Freshman class meeting held in Government 101 from 4 to 6 p. m. last Wednesday afternoon.

Dwight Worden, outgoing President of the Freshman class, was in charge of the meeting. Mr. Worden said that he was going to begin organizing the class, in order that the incoming president might have a nucleus with which to work. Names and addresses were secured from the Freshmen present. They also indicated what committees they would like to serve on, and whatever special talents they might possess, the latter with the Freshman Follies in mind. After the required information was obtained, the meeting was turned over to Scotty Fleetwood, present vice-president, who introduced the candidates for the various offices.

Each candidate gave a brief speech stating his qualifications and giving an outline of his platform.

Candidates for president who spoke at the meeting were Bill Jeffries, John Lytle, Pete Marshall, and Stuart Schwartz.

Lee Harrison, the only vice-presidential candidate present, said that the Freshmen should not act like lowly worms, to be stepped upon and squashed, but, since they have more youth and vigor than the other classes, should get out and do things.

At the time of the meeting, there were no candidates running for the office of Treasurer, but several people were having petitions signed.

Betty De Jong was the uncontested candidate for the position of Secretary.

All the candidates who spoke said they were concerned over the lack of interest in elections and other class activities that is being shown by the Freshman class. They felt that the general apathy was demonstrated in the small attendance at the meeting.

All Freshmen are urged to attend the next class meeting, which will be held Wednesday, November 10, at 4 p. m. in Government 101. The new Freshman class officers will take over at that time.

Math Club Begins Career

● THE MATH CLUB will present its first program on Tuesday, November 9, one week from today, at 9:00 p. m. in D-103. Michael Montalbano, a graduate student here at G. W. U., will discuss the theory and uses of the electronic computation machines of the Bureau of Standards where he works.

Jim McLynn, President of the Math Club, invites all interested students to attend this and future meetings. He and Beverly Barrett, Secretary-Treasurer, were elected to office at the first meeting on October 25. The club, which is still in the process of being formally organized, has nevertheless drawn up its constitution to be submitted for school approval, and made extensive plans for future programs.

The aim of the Math Club is to supplement the formal education of its members by providing opportunity for independent examination and discussion of topics of mathematical interest.

A.A.F. Band Next In Program Series

● CONCERT ORCHESTRA of the United States Air Force Band and the Glee Club of the United States Air Force Band will present a concert on November 10 in the Lisner Auditorium at 8:15. This is the third fall Colonial Program and is jointly sponsored by the Student Council and the General Alumni Association. Admission is free.

"Take your gal, give her a swing. Dance her 'round in a great big ring."
● THERE WILL BE MANY RINGS and many squares in which to swing your gal when the square dance gets under way in Building J, Thursday night at 8:30. This will be the first in a series of square dances to be held the first Thursday in every month from 8:30 to 10:30 in Building J.

Supplying the music will be a regular old-time five-piece square dance band led by Bob Daniels. The "Novelers," as they call themselves, won first place in the D. C. Recreation Contest for having the best square dance band in Washington, and Bob Daniels won first place for being the best fiddler. The music of the Novelers is already familiar to television fans who have seen the Novelers on their weekly show "Hayloft Conservatory" over WTTC.

An impressive list of names on the Managerial Board promises a successful season this year. They are: Julia Holloran, Tom Pence, John Grinnell, Rosemary Glenn, Joyce Lear, Joe Shank, Frank O'Brien, and Myrtle Lankton. They have planned a full evening of fun for everyone who likes to do-si-do and circle left. For many who don't know how to "Dive for the oyster and dig for the clam" members of the board will be only too happy to do some side coaching during the evening to make you right at home in a Kentucky running set or a New England Quadrille.

Taking turns at the mike to do the calling will be Miss Elizabeth Burnter, Director of the dance groups, Tom Pence, Rosemary Glenn, and Joe Shank.

Just propenaded over to Building J this Thursday, evening at 8:30 for a grand old evening. There is no admission charge, but a small offering will be collected when the dance is over.

Hallowe'en Party Planned By Vets Club November 6

● GEORGE Washington University's Veterans Club has started the scholastic year with two social affairs which proved to be greatly successful and also showed the increasing enthusiasm of GW Vets in their Club and its activities. First of these was the Open House held at the Club House October 1 which was a great stimulant to membership. The second was the first business meeting of the year which, combined with a GI party afterwards, turned out to be one of the best sessions we have attended at the Club.

The House itself has been greatly improved over the summer, or shall we say beautified, by some very nice pieces of furniture which help make it more and more one of the best places to go to and relax around the campus. Another addition to the Club (Danny O'Neill's pet worry and the Vets mascot) is Boop, a cute pup of obscure pedigree and great charms.

Major activity of the near future is the Hallowe'en Party November 6th at the Club House. The tickets will be 50c for all males, but the ladies will be guests of honor. Wear your old fatigues or dungarees and don't stay away because you are not a Club member. If you are a Vet you are always welcomed at the Club.

Students To Learn Of Swedish Phys Ed

● AGNE HOLMSTROM, Secretary-General of the organization committee for Lingiad in Stockholm for 1949, will discuss "Physical Education in Sweden" on Tuesday, November 2, at 1:10 p. m., in Room 1 of the Hall of Government.

Mr. Holmstrom, who lectured in South America last year, is now on a tour of the United States and Canada under the auspices of the Swedish government. He will discuss a world gymnastic festival, world congress for physical culture, and a gymnastic camp. Motion pictures of the Lingiad of 1939 and present methods of physical education in Sweden will be shown.

Medical School Announces Cancer Research Program

• DR. W. A. BLOEDORN, Dean of George Washington Medical School, and Dr. J. R. Heller, Jr., Director of the National Cancer Institute, have announced a joint program of clinical cancer research.

Dr. Roy Hertz, Assistant Professor of Medicine at the Medical School and Chairman of the Endocrinology Section, National Cancer

Institute, has been named chairman of a committee to develop and direct the new program. Other members of the committee, consisting of school staff members, include Drs. Brian Blades, Professor of Surgery; Thomas M. Brown, Professor of Medicine; Calvin T. Klopp, Director of Cancer Service at George Washington Hospital; Paul K. Smith, Professor of Pharmacology; Thomas M. Peery, Professor of Pathology; and J. Keith Cromer, Consultant Gynecologist.

The new cooperative program is financed from the University's cancer research funds, which come from grants made by the National Cancer Institute, the American Cancer Society, and private sources.

Three initial studies are underway:

1. Endocrine and metabolic aspects of cancer of the breast, prostate, uterus, ovaries and testes, including the role of hormones in causing cancer and possible use of hormones in therapy.

2. Studies in nutritional aspects of cancer of the gastro-intestinal tract, particularly nutritional abnormalities that occur with cancer of this type, such as failure to absorb certain foods. The first study concerns the metabolism of Vitamin A.

3. Study of metabolic aspects of nitrogen-mustard therapy in lymphoid diseases, such as Hodgkin's Disease, lymphoma, and various forms of leukemia.

A clinical laboratory for these studies has been established at the new University Hospital, and a ward will be set up shortly. A number of beds will be devoted entirely to clinical cancer research, and staff members of the Medical School and National Cancer Institute will conduct the initial studies. In addition, it is expected that members of both staffs may undertake other special studies.

Further studies, as well as the patients to be admitted, will be determined by the directing committee, with the advice of the Tumor Board of Warwick Clinic. In addition to the special laboratory at the Hospital, the National Cancer Institute laboratories in the National Institute of Health at Bethesda will be available for studies that require more extensive technical facilities.

All entries will be considered for publication at the magazine's regular rate of $125, thus providing additional opportunity for the college writer. Judges of the contest will be the editors of TOMORROW Magazine and the editors of Creative Age Press, book publishers.

Rules for the contest are simple. It is open to all officially enrolled undergraduates in the United States. There is no limit to the number of manuscripts a single contestant may submit. It's On The Record

By FRENCH CRAWFORD SMITH

• IT'S A MYTH! Patrice Munsel does not roll, glide, or float onto the stage. She walks just as any other pretty, 23-year-old star of opera and concert might walk.

The youthful coloratura appeared as the first artist on the Dorsey series this season, singing songs and arias in the repertoire of the late Jenny Lind. These selections included "Deh vieni, non tardar," from Mozart's Marriage of Figaro, "Ah! Non credea mirarti" and "Ah! Non giunge," from Bellini's La Sonnambula, the "Norwegian Echo Song," and bits from the German, French and Italian fields.

Miss Munsel's voice is light and extremely flexible. Her breath control is of an exceptionally high order as is her diction. But she is not an artist in the purest sense of the word. She lacks personality, depth, an innate feeling for the dramatic line that only years of experience can bring her. She makes the grand try, though, and the result is certainly not displeasing to the ear; on the contrary, she sings with an ease and facility that few can match today for the coloratura voice is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. You can count the prominent coloraturas on the fingers of one hand.

The most rewarding selection, from a dramatic standpoint, was the aria from Meyerbeer's Roberto il Diavolo. Miss Munsel captured the intensity of the role with a proper display of vigor and volume. This might also be said of her rendition of Rachmaninoff's "Floods of Spring."

Miss Munsel was assisted by Betty Wood, flautist, and Stuart Ross, pianist. Both performed capably; the latter performed a group of soli, a custom justly, if slowly, disappearing from the concert programs of today.

An ALL-CZECH program comprised the second Wednesday concert by the National Symphony. Assisting Hans Kindler and the orchestra was Rudolph Firkusny, young Czech pianist.

Dr. Kindler opened the program with a spirited reading of the familiar overture to Smetana's Bartered Bride. The clarity of the strings was remarkable. The woodwinds and horns were also heard to good advantage.

The second work to be heard was Dvorak's Symphony in E minor (From the New World). We beg to be forgiven if, upon hearing the Andante movement, we persist in "hearing a vision" of Tibbett singing "Goin' Home." The orchestra has a feeling for the music and Dr. Kindler managed to breath new life into the work, giving it a decided freshness.

Washington was given its premiere performance of Martinu's Piano Concerto No. 2. Martinu has lived in the United States for several years, teaching composition at the Berkshire Music Festival. His Concerto was extremely interesting. The second movement is particularly so because of the intricate pizzicato passages and the folk melody upon which it is based. The third and final movement has a powerful, dazzling coda for solo instrument.

Rudolph Firkusny played the work with great depth of intensity. His is a virile attack, sustained with a certain degree of ferocity, perhaps, but he is one of the great pianists to be reckoned with today. Let us pray Hollywood doesn't "discover" him.

The program was concluded with Weinberger's Czech Rhapsody—the one with the prelude written especially for Kindler.

An ALL-CZECH program comprised the second Wednesday is over. That is to say it presumably will be over when the Government "ratifies" the contract between union and manufacturers.

When this takes place, look for Victor to make use of its contract with Toscanini to record two complete operas annually; look for Columbia to do the same with its "Met" contract. We could stand new recordings of Trovatore, Faust, Rigoletto, Traviata and the Wagner repertoire.

Robert Merrill came forth with an excellent side recently. He sings the lyric "Zaza, piccola zingara" from Leoncavallo's Zaza—and opera which followed Pagliacci by about eight years. Merrill is in good voice and is ably supported by the orchestra. This recording will probably replace the old one by John Charles Thomas.

Columbia announces several importations from its European affiliate (a result of the ban?) to be released in November. Most notable of these will be the complete recording of Samson et Dalila, by the Paris Opera Company.

Consistent with the policy to re-record what is already in the catalogs, Arthur Rodzinski and the Chicago Symphony release, under RCA Victor label, the "Prelude and Love-Death" (we still prefer "Transfiguration Scene") from Tristan. It is sumptuously recorded and has the advantage of being available on vinylite, too. Many will probably prefer the various Stokowski versions on shellac.

and Roscoe, respectively. (Did anybody besides me notice that "Gat" and "Roscoe" are synonymous a la (Damon Runyon?) Several of the scenes were theirs, all theirs, and stolen quite adroitly. The best comedy scene in the play did not appear as written, thank goodness. Zelda Fichandler conceived the idea of rope-skipping, and directed the scene as it appeared.

Especially fascinating were the use of a maze to indicate confusion, a turnstile for giving people the runaround, and a see-saw, for purposes of planning political campaigns on. Bob Stevens' sets embodied true Constructivism in that they showed total, or nearly total, absence of decor. Ramps, platforms, and various levels, all had neat luminous lines on their corners and down their middles so that rapid scene changes could be made in the dark without changing the lives of several valuable Players. Also to aid rapid scene shifts, all members of the cast wore tennis shoes of the completely noiseless variety.

Mr. Stevens informed me that this was the most expensive set ever used by the Players. Other sets you can build flimsy with supports behind; this one had to be structurally strong, because people were charging up and down it all the time. It creaked a little, but, by darn, it held.

Leave us not forget John Wilson's Josiah Cook, the tragicomic character, and Stan Telchin's Trumpeter (that guy keeps showing up with all sorts of unusual talents!) whose most memorable lines were, "Popcorn! Hot buttered popcorn!" Josiah was a character who was both screamingly funny and beautifully serious, though understandably not both at once.

Albert Berkowitz composed the folk song that tied in with Sam Trellis' campaign, and not bad it was. He also selected the background music, which received deserved kudos as being effective, well timed, and couldn't have been better chosen.

Don Muir is listed all over the program, since he not only acted in the play, but he also was on the Production Crew, Stage Manager's staff, and Production staff. Busy, hmmm?

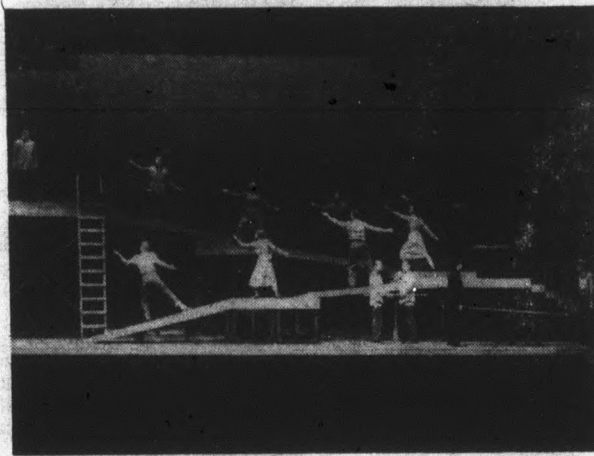

Other not-quite-major characters (I don't want to call them minor!) were well cast and thoroughly directed. They added no little and quite some to the effectiveness of Mr. Mangum's choreography and countryside scenes.

Laneth (Betty Caldwell) got stuck with the tritest lines of the whole play, and did right well on such overworked bromides as shouldn't happen to any decent ingenue, much less to an experimental production.

Did I mention that Sam's Soliloquy on top of the platform was the most gripping political speech I ever heard? Danilowicz for President! He had the stage, the lights, the audience to himself for an entire scene, and it was a high spot in the action.

Speaking of high spots and symbolism, Jeff (Charles Vorbach), Sam's son, never reached the top platform until the final scene in which he grew up and made like the Prodigal Son returning to his forgiving father. Several people started to climb the ladder to the

Cherry Tree Will Be Published With Revised Size, Organization

by Deacon Eicklen

• IT'S THE story of the year; that's what the new model Cherry Tree will be. Due to difficulties in the past, the Cherry Tree staff has had to restyle the University Yearbook. The new book, if approved, will be 296 pages in length. It will also be 9 inches by 6 inches, which is about the same size as students' medium-sized text books. The size of the year book will eliminate that awkward bulge in your bookcase.

It is probable that activities of each month will compose one section of the book, in place of having a complete section to one activity. This will mean also that there will be a bigger play on informal shots.

The cost of the year book will be very low. It will be $1 for the paper-bound edition, and $1.50 for the bound edition. At this price, everyone can easily afford to buy the year book. The staff hopes to have 5,000 to 10,000 editions for students in either bound or un-

Modern Dance Symposium Held in Chambersburg, Pa.

• LAST SATURDAY, the Modern Dance Group left for Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, to attend the Dance Symposium sponsored by Wilson College of that city.

On arriving, the students joined the groups from Hood and Wilson Colleges in the Gymnasium, where they were to receive a master dance lesson taught by the various visiting instructors.

These included Miss Bowden of Wilson College, Miss Elizabeth Burtner of George Washington University, and Miss Steffi Nossen of The Steffi Nossen School of Dance, located in New York City. Each instructor gave typical examples of her own style of teaching.

After lunch in the school dining room, the symposium reconvened for presentation of the choreography of each college. George Washington led off with "Holiday Mood," "Pattern," and "Three Sisters" all three of which were enthusiastically received by the audience. Wilson College followed with a suite of dances done to folk tunes. Hood College completed the program with "Street Scene" choreographed to Katchatorian's "Sabre Dance" and Nocturne—a dance of the loneliness and blase sophistication of the city. At the conclusion of the composition demonstration, Miss Nossen led a discussion of criticisms of the dances. As a result of the critical analyses, each group came away with a better understanding of audience reaction to their own compositions.

The final event on the program was a lecture demonstration by Miss Nossen and her group on the subject of "Dance and You." Miss Nossen explained her theory that dance belongs to everyone. She works on the belief that each individual has within him some creative ability and since dance is the most personal art form in that it utilizes the body, dance is logically the medium of mass expression. Miss Nossen's group demonstrated the techniques by which the body could be trained for maximum expression. Miss Nossen emphasized that while dance is an art form, it is also an important tool of education assisting the child in physical, mental and emotional growth by providing him with an opportunity to express himself through body movement.

The George Washington group came back to Washington stimulated by the events of the day and with high hopes that a similar symposium of the dance might be held soon on our campus.

Masons Will Meet; Receive Trophy For Contributions

• MASONIC CLUB of George Washington University will meet Wednesday, November 3, at 8:15 p. m., in Room C of Columbian House.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the unveiling of the trophy awarded to the Masonic Club by the National League of Masonic Clubs for the largest contribution to the educational fund of the League. This contribution of more than $600 was derived from the sale of cherry blossoms in the annual Cherry Blossom Drive held on the campus last spring. The National League's educational fund, now amounting to more than $70,000, is used to establish and maintain scholarships in universities throughout the United States. George Washington University is one university in which such scholarships have been established.

Plans for the spring Cherry Blossom Drive are being formulated by the Cherry Blossom Committee of the University Masonic Club. Changes in the older plans are under consideration, and it is felt that the new plans, when completed, will not only be more appealing to the sororities who enter the drive in competition with each other, but to the student body as a whole. Watch the HATCHET for further announcements.

Theta Delta Chi Elects Officers

English Prof Gets Folger Fellowship

• DR. GEORGE WINCHESTER STONE, Jr., Professor of English, was awarded the Folger Summer Fellowship this past summer, in recognition of his work in the field of the eighteenth century theatre.

For the past ten years, Dr. Stone, in collaboration with Dr. W. B. Van Lennep, curator of the Harvard Theatre collection, has been working on a revision of Genest's, "History of the British Stage—1660 to 1800." Genest's history is a standard reference work in drama as actually performed in the 17th and 18th centuries. It was first published in 1832, and since its publication a great deal of material has been brought to light about the day by day performances, casts, and box receipts showing the popularity of the plays presented, all of which now needs to be made available for scholars working on the period.

The Folger Shakespeare Library has a wealth of material on such subjects, including play bills, treasurers' account book, dairies, journals and letters, which Dr. Stone is organizing as his part of the Genest revision. The period he is working on is 1740 to 1800.

Last summer, by the aid of the Folger Summer Fellowship, Dr. Stone was able to bring nearly to completion the record of the Drury Lane Theatre, from 1740 to 1776.

When the work is finished, the material will be annotated on 24,000 cards, giving day by day accounts of what went on in London theatres in the eighteenth century. It will list the name of the play presented, the after piece, musical entertainment, cast, box receipts and as much contemporary comment as is available.

The work will be primarily a basic reference work for critical evaluation of all aspects of eighteenth century drama.

• ONCE MORE THE GHOST and goblin season descended upon GWU. Everyone shook the bats out of their old Halloween costumes, and some of the blither spirits jumped on their mother's broom stick and sailed off into the night. The KA's celebrated the witching hour in a big way with their Haunted House party. Cathy Colburn, Kappa, became so frightened at Fred Garner who was wandering around in the dark dressed as a skeleton, that Bob Tull tossed Cathy in the kitchen sink and turned on the water to revive her . . . The Phi Sigs came over and played "Trick-or-treat" on the KA's, and Jack Cound was one surprised man when he and his Yankee uniform weren't tossed out . . . The guest speaker at the Teke party was pledge Norman Hallquist on how to chug-a-lug a schooner of beer in five seconds, immediately followed by a temperance lecture, second in a series of 100, given by Chuck Spence . . . We heard that the Kappa Sigs and the SAE's also threw a big one Saturday night . . .

The partying spirit was continued Sunday with the Theta, Phi Mu, KD, and ADPi open houses for fraternities . . . Speaking of open houses, all sorority girls are cordially invited to visit the ADPi's tomorrow afternoon . . . ZTA's are already looking forward to their fraternity open house next Sunday.

• THE HARDWARE DEPARTMENT . . . Jack Connolly, Teke, wed Margaret Roberts last week . . . Pat Phillips, ChiO, and her childhood sweetheart will take the big step on December 22nd . . . Sena Arnold, Pi Phi, was married October 30th . . . John (I used to be president around here) Donohue, Theta Delt, to don ball and chain any day now . . .

• GAY NINETIES NOTE: something happened in the maintenance department last week, and instead of electricity, the Book Exchange got outfitted with gas heat and gas lights. The managers are slowly going-blind. It seems there was a guy named Edison . . . but let it pass, let it pass!

Rissy Alvord elected president of ChiO pledge class . . . Oscar Alvig, Teke, elected to fill vacancy of treasurer in the chapter . . . The Theta Delt's welcomed the return of brother Phil Young for a brief stay . . . ChiO's Carolyn Moore, Keppie Kephart, and Shirley Simms entertained the Boston College football team. All by themselves? . . . Ann Herwig is expecting (kittens, that is) and wants to find a home for them . . . Summer school Law grades are FINALLY coming out . . . Phyllis Barrington and Yvonne Veltman, AD Pi's spent the weekend at West Point . . . Wonder if Bill Lesniak, Acacia is still advertising in the paper for his lost puppy . . . Sigma Chi Dick Markoff, returned for a short visit . . . Congratulations to Scotty Fleetwood, Theta Delt's new president . . . Teke, Jack Fox, Dewey for President worker, was released from his duties at that post because of his affiliation with a Thurmond supporter . . . ADPi Mary de Metz, GWU traitor of the week, being seen quite regularly with a Marylandite . . . Dionne Dalton, ChiO, and Bob Appleby roaring at Hal Thornton's nasties. H. T. is from the Brass Rail at Ocean City . . . By the way, Pi Phi Jody Hastings gets our vote as "the party girl of the week" WOW! . . . Edie Harper, DZ, gets our vote as "the worker of the week." She really did a terrific job on Homecoming . . .

• Pi Phi's Anne Bradshaw, Betty Swanson, Winnie McGowan, and Connie Fryer, travelled to Baltimore for the Navy-Notre Dame game . . . The "progressive" students in Geiserts Family class are preparing a panel discussion on birth control . . . Betty Birkicht still hobbling around on her crutches . . . Theta Delt's celebrated their 101st birthday with a gala luncheon at the Washington Hotel . . . Although the Tekes won 2nd prize in the Homecoming float parade, the dern cup, a symbol of achievement, was filched. House detectives Donaldson and Kostik set to work on a well-greased trail and trapped the culprit at Maryland U. The prankster must have beamed someone with the cup because it is being repaired at a shop in Maryland . . . Barbara Murphy, who was the Pi Phi chaperone at Ocean City visited the KA's, but, darn it, she brought her husband . . . Phi Sigma's Jean Berdanstein traipsed off to the wilds of New York for the Columbia-Cornell game . . . The Sigma Chi's finally got their television set last Tuesday . . . ADPi's Gloria Rue, Eugene Lee, and Margaret Royce shuffled off to Annapolis last weekend.

• If you all would like to have items appear in this column bring them over to the Hatchet office by Sunday morning, you send 'em, we'll print 'em . . . 'Til next week's rat race then . . .

Students See "The Red Shoes" Premiere At Bargain Price

By Arch Harrison

• FOR ONLY SIXTY CENTS students have the chance to see one of the most unusual motion pictures ever to come to our town. At the National Theatre "THE RED SHOES" is at once breath-takingly lovely, emotionally satisfactory, gripping and just plain wonderful. The sets are magnificent, the music is beautiful, and the dancing is magical.

Aside from all the superlatives, just a word about the story: Victoria Paige (Maira Shearer) and Julian Craster (Marius Goring) are engaged by Lermontov (Anton Walbrook), the world's greatest ballet impresario to join his company on tour. Victoria is a dancer in whom Lermontov sees promise as a great prima ballerina and Julian, a young composer, is to rehearse the company's orchestra. Lermontov demands that the members of his company accept his discipline of living for the ballet and nothing else. With him it is a religion, and his company must follow his rule of life.

In Paris the leading ballerina announces that she's going to get married, and this enrages Lermontov, so that she is dismissed and he refuses to see her. Being without a prima ballerina, the impresario turns to Victoria Paige for the lead in a new ballet called "The Red Shoes," and for which Craster will write the score. The ballet is produced and is a great success. Vickie is a star and Julian is highly commended for his work. Things are looking up for M. Lermontov. Then the blow comes, Vickie and Julian fall in love. Naturally, they are both fired, the original prima ballerina comes back on the scene and takes over, and for a while Lermontov is without worry. Eventually Vickie's love of the ballet overcomes her love for Julian . . . not that she loves Julian less, you understand, but that she loves the dance more, and she returns to Lermontov's company. The story reaches an awful finale when Craster and Lermontov confront each other and quarrel over her future. Torn between the two, she dismisses them. After Julian has left she runs after him, and falls to her death beneath the wheels of an oncoming train.

The best part of this show is, of course, the actual ballet of "The Red Shoes." It's a beautifully created dance, and the camera does things for the production that we could never see on the ordinary stage. There are wonderful effects in which the dancer is whirled through crowds of paper men and misty morasses. As the Mad Shoe-maker, Leonide Massine is delightful, and if there were any show-stealing done, here is the man who did it. Some of the time we were looking more for Massine than for Vickie.

That's about all for "THE RED SHOES"; we liked it. Drop into the Student Club and pick up a few student passes, and then go see something you'll remember for a long time. Thank you, J. ARTHUR RANK.

Slide Rule Slants

By Glen & Jerry

• TOMORROW NIGHT the regular meetings of the four engineering societies will be held in the Hall of Government at 8:15 p. m. They are as follows:

ASME meets in room 101. Mrs. Frank R. Caldwell of the the Bureau of Standards will speak on "Combustion in Moving Air." Members of ASME are invited to attend the parent ASME chapter meeting on November 10.

ASCE will organize at its meeting in room 201. It will feature a staff-student mixer and a movie. AIEE will be joined by IRE for a talk on "Low Temperature Physics of Cryogenics" by Dr. Richard L. Dolecek of the Naval Research Laboratory. The room will be announced by a neon sign.

All students are invited. Engineering, chemistry, and physics students will find these meetings especially interesting and engineering students will also find membership in these societies very valuable both during school and after graduation.

On November 7, Bill Kline and Matt Flate will represent G. W.

at the annual AIEE convention at Lehigh University. Their report on the proceedings will be announced at the following meeting.

The Engineer's Council wishes to announce that the Engineer's Lounge, Corcoran Hall Annex, is open to all engineering students for social and literary purposes. Plans are being made to open a reference library in the lounge in the near future. Donations from anyone for this worthy purpose will be appreciated.

Class elections will be held November 4 and 5 in the Columbian House. Each year, the number of engineering students who take part in these proceedings has been pitifully small. Let's all get out this time and vote!!!

GOOD NEWS DEPARTMENT—"Captain" Charles Chambliss who has demonstrated his proficiency in "mopping up operations" in his Structural Design class, has been offered a stellar job on the University janitor staff following graduation. We all wish him luck in his new endeavor.

A new course will be instituted in the School of Engineering—Hearts 101-102. Anyone wishing to take the course will please contact Robert "please don't give me the Queen" Swobe. Tutoring will be given by Elwood Lowrie.

How many engineers know about Sigma Tau? Sigma Tau is now in its 18th year as the engineering honorary fraternity at G. W. Originally founded at the University of Nebraska in 1904, Sigma Tau has attained wide scope and recognition, with representation at 25 universities throughout the nation. Engineers who have attained junior standing and rank scholastically in the upper one-third of the junior and senior engineering classes are eligible for membership. Membership in Sigma Tau should be the scholastic goal of all engineers.

The first issue of Mechelect, the Engineering magazine, will be available shortly after Armistice Day. It will contain an article on homes and home-making in connection with heat pumps, which should be of interest to all students. Anyone wishing to write for the magazine is requested to contact Hollis K. Kushman. The editorial staff is in need of feature writers.

Cherry Tree Staff To Meet Wednesday

• CHERRY TREE MEETING on Wednesday, November 3, at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m., in the Cherry Tree office. All staff members please be present at one meeting. Editors should arrive one-half hour before the staff meeting.

Kayser Speaks At Safety Congress

• DR. ELMER LOUIS KAYSER, popular Dean of University Students, made a flying trip to Chicago on Wednesday, October 20, at the request of the National Safety Congress. He addressed the Traffic Section of the 36th National Safety Congress on the subject of "Public Support for Traffic Courts."

Dean Kayser defined the problem of public support as a problem of education on a community level and stated it must be approached as such. "Quite obviously," he stated, "better administration will produce fuller public support, and yet is equally true that without full public support, judicial administration cannot hope to approach its optimum. It is a sort of a chicken and the egg proposition." His solution was to work in and through the schools with youth, to add to the group of public-spirited men and women already enlisted and to develop all of the instrumentalities of the court as a social process.

Frostbite Regatta Plans Announced

• FROSTBITE REGATTA plans have been announced by the George Washington University Sailing Association. The Regatta will be comprised of approximately fifteen colleges, and will be held in Washington, under the sponsorship of Maryland, Georgetown, and George Washington University.

All organizations are asked to begin selecting their candidates for the Frostbite Queen. Three or more candidates will be chosen to represent the University at the final judging at the Frostbite Dance. Georgetown and Maryland will also be represented by their candidates, and the Frostbite Queen will be chosen from the candidates from the three schools. Details of the rules and qualifications will be published in the next issue of the HATCHET.

Student Calendars Sent To Groups

Student Activity Calendars are being mailed to each recognized campus organization each month. The calendar will contain the following month's activities as of the date of publication. All organizations which did not receive such a calendar for October 20 through November 30 are requested to leave a note in the Student Council office giving correct address of the organization. These notes should be addressed to Howard Ticklin, Student Activity Calendar Director.

top platform, but no one ever got all the way up. A couple of people got down that way, but they all had to take the long rampway to reach the top. Sam being the topmost character, he reached top most often. Wallie P. Hale (I'm the type who wonders what the "P" stands for) got there once, as did both Jeff and Sidney, while Emily hit there twice and nobody else got there at all.

A good many people commented that Vorbach's Jeff was the Witch Boy all over, and I was firmly convinced that he was much too intense for the part of Jeff. Mr. Mangum explained it was too bad Charlie's first big part had been such a decided success at such an original type. It naturally colored the audience's reaction to any subsequent characterizations he may play. Jeff was an intense boy, and only someone as striking as Vorbach could have achieved the feeling demanded in his big scenes.

Choreography in the last scene was dreamed up by Mr. Mangum and was the most effective way of showing off election results he could possibly have gotten. Fred Buschmeyer read the last big speech, but he did it in a completely different voice than he used in his characterization of Hamp, "who believed in people." Hamp was young and extremely idealistic, and so was his voice. This big speech was authoritative, and the choreography, music, and speech tied in and timed perfectly. I picture hours and hours of patient "try it again, fellows, somebody wasn't quite there."

A new innovation among the Players was the critique held in Studio A of Lisner after the closing Saturday evening. Cast, director, staging, and music all came up for criticism. Several professional members of the audience got in their peevish, gripes, and a few bouquets, didn't they?

Thirteenth Attempt On Testudo Fails

• RETURNED BY this University prior to the Homecoming Game with Maryland University, Testudo, Maryland's 400-pound bronze terrapin, suffered an unlucky thirteenth kidnapping attempt last Sunday morning. The culprits were two Maryland students and two high school boys from Baltimore.

According to police, the abductors got only to the end of the Coliseum driveway when Testudo fell from their car. Taken into custody by state police, the four were turned over to Maryland University authorities. As yet, no action has been taken.

The Diamondback, Maryland University's newspaper, reports that Testudo now rests in the depths of the Coliseum, recuperating from his past hectic adventure with George Washington students. His pedestal stands alone, bearing a plaque which records the winners of the annual Freshman-Sophomore tug o' war.

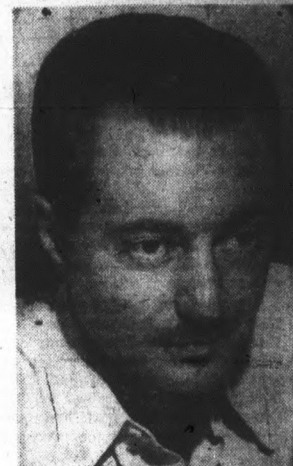

Testudo was returned at the request of University authorities prior to the Homecoming game in order to head off a possible "Donnybrook" between students of the two universities.

His arrival on the Maryland campus was unheralded, but not unwelcome. Hundreds came to see him as the day wore on—well wishers, curiosity seekers, and freshmen getting their first glimpse. He had been missing from College Park since September 8.

EXPERIENCES IN THE SYNTAXIC MODE.

One of the students at the CPC this past Saturday volunteered his diagnosis—"syphilis." When Dr. Brown pointed out that there was a significant fact overlooked in making this diagnosis, viz., that serology was negative, the hitherto solemn assembly just went up in smoke. Outside in the halls, during the post-mortem on the post-mortem, denials could be heard on all sides. Juniors refused to admit that the student was a member of their class and seniors swore up and down that they had never seen the man before in their lives! We wonder who he is...

Mark Doran has put his finger on what ailed us before we became acclimatized to Gallinger. He points out that it was all relative and a matter of the sliding scale. Those of us who were normally slightly hypomanic became calm and sedate. Those of us who were normally calm and sedate became melancholic. We leave to your imagination what happened to the usually melancholic.

Dr. L. E. Putnam has been sporting a cast on his broken arm. Chief Complaint: metal chain is still hanging at the site where the accident occurred.

Inspection: This will reveal which arm is in the cast. A fine point to be noted is the presence of a bow tie. They tell me it's well-nigh impossible to manage a Windsor knot with one hand.

Neatest Trick of the Year

"If you are worried about a problem, consider first whether the problem in hand is actually your business. If it is not, turn to something else that is, and forget about it. If it is your business, decide next whether it is your business now. If it is not your business now, forget about it. If it is your business and your business now, decide what is the wisest and most efficient thing to do about it. If you know, get busy and do it; if you do not know, if you lack knowledge, seek the knowledge you need from the best possible source and seek it now." From "Internal Medicine in General Practice" by Dr. R. P. McCombs, page 42, 1947. Department of Higher Learning.

When you are wearied of the usual and your appetite for words is jaded, try using "poitinaire" unobtrusively in your conversation. We guarantee results.

Senior Elections

So far as the seniors know, they have elected but two officers in their class—Robert Lash, President and Melvin Porter, Vice-President. And concerning Bob Lash, we have yet to see such aplomb in Obstetrics Conferences. Bob fell asleep and could not be awakened even when Dr. Parks tossed a bit of paper at him.

Tri-city Meeting

The most startling feature of this meeting was the 21 inch broadside launched by Dr. Walter Freeman against psychoanalysis. Dr. Freeman, who recently returned from a European tour, delivered his report on psychoanalysis in Europe in the Socratic form. He pointed out that he and the European doctors with whom he spoke agreed that psychoanalysis suffers from the lack of scientific method. Follow-ups and a large series of cases from which conclusions may be drawn are conspicuous by their absence. He stated that these European doctors felt that psychoanalysis was "on its way out" in Europe and that it was remarkable that what was dying in Europe was flourishing "like the green bay tree" in the U. S. Observing that psychoanalysts were becoming dogmatic and sectarian, he stated that psychoanalytic hypotheses were accepted blindly as dicta in the U. S., while in Europe, psychoanalysis was being "shelved" in favor of more effective psychiatric research and therapy.

Decline in Home Economics Majors Shown in Survey

FEWER WOMEN college students are majoring in home economics than in recent years. Returns from 388 institutions show that about 11½ percent of all women students enrolled are home economics majors. These facts have been developed in a survey recently completed by the U. S. Office of Education.

In 1941, when a similar survey was made, about 17 percent of all women students were home economics majors; in 1945, it was 13 percent. In light of expanding needs in this field, the trend in enrollments indicates greater opportunities for college graduates in home economics.

The highest proportion of home economics majors to all women students, nearly 16 percent this year, is in the southern region, which includes 12 states. In each of the three other main regions of the country, the comparable figure is close to 10 percent.

Of the 388 institutions, 175 maintain nursery schools for student observation. Another 35 provide such opportunities. Together these two groups are 54 percent of all institutions reporting in the survey. A total of 254 or 65 percent of the institutions maintain home management houses or apartments for which students carry full responsibility; and 46 reported a child in the home management

Veterans Will Receive Checks November 3; Some Delayed

● NEARLY 22,000 student veterans who registered this fall in colleges and institutions in the Washington area will receive subsistence checks for September and October by November 3, the Veterans Administration's Washington Regional Office reported today.

However, about 5,000 veterans whose registration was delayed will receive allowance checks between November 4-16.

Faced with a record registration workload, Manager Chester F. Naumowicz has directed a seven-day-week for key sections to speed payments to veterans in schools here.

All veterans who registered by October 15 and whose papers were received by VA before October 21 will receive subsistence allowances between October 31 and November 3. Of those who registered later, some 3,400 will receive checks between November 4-10 and 1,600 student veterans can expect payment between November 11-16. Approximately 1,500 other veterans whose registration has not yet been reported to VA, will be paid after November 16.

VA explained that the delayed payment to veterans is due primarily to late registrations by veterans, transfer of veterans' files from VA regional offices throughout the country and delay by some schools in making necessary reports to VA.

Veterans are requested not to contact the VA if checks do not reach them during the first few days in November, for such calls will contribute to further delay.

The fellowship, awarded to nine girls over the past seven years will go to an applicant to be selected by a committee of deans and a committee of National Mortar Board officers.

Candidates for the fellowship must be unmarried and able to qualify for the master's or doctor's degree in an accepted graduate school.

Information and application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Edward M. Williams, Mortar Board Fellowship Chairman, One East 602nd st., Orangeburg, New York, before December 1, 1948.

Catalogue Lists Probation Rules

● PROBATION and suspension index requirements have been changed, according to Dr. Katherine Adams of the Junior College.

The scholarship rules are applied beginning this fall term when a student has undertaken a minimum of twelve hours. Thereafter, the rules are applied in multiples of nine hours.

The 1948-49 catalogue issue of the University Bulletin presents the newly arranged system which will effect a rise in scholastic standards of the University. The following information appears on page 53 of the bulletin.

A student must maintain a quality-point index of at least 2.00; however, the student who has a quality point index between 1.50 and 2.00 will be considered by the Committee on Scholarship, which may retain him on probation or suspend him.

A student who has a quality point index below 1.50 will be suspended; however, a student who has a quality-point index between 1.40 and 1.50 will be considered by the Committee on Scholarship, which may retain him on probation or suspend him.

A student who is subject to probation for the third time, whether successive or after an interval, will be suspended.

A student suspended for poor scholarship may apply for readmission after an interval of two terms. On application for readmission the student must submit specific evidence to the Committee on Scholarship that he is better qualified to pursue college work. A student suspended twice for poor scholarship will not be readmitted.

• ENROUTE FROM PENNSYLVANIA: Remember way back last Spring when the '48 Colonial grid schedule was announced? We were all kind of surprised and not a little worried about a list of opponents which included such powers as Wake Forest, Virginia, Kansas, Maryland, and Duke—a ten-game schedule to be played on ten consecutive weekends with scarcely a breather inserted.

And what kind of ball team were we to have to tackle such competition? Well, for one thing, we had a new head coach—an unheralded "Bo" Rowland from Oklahoma City. He was coming to George Washington to take over a ball team that had lost seven games last season, and had suffered the loss of such outstanding gridders as Don Druckenmiller, Carl Butkus, and Joe Wapinsky.

The new material consisted of just ten men, including a couple of promising but untested backs in Joe Stanislawczyk and Andy Davis. Also, John Shullenberger and Joe Buell were back at George Washington. All in all, some 45 men were out for practice on September 1, and, as desperately as Coach Rowland needed depth of material, he was forced to cut some of the less talented boys from the squad.

When the Colonials opened at Wake Forest, Coach Rowland for the first time saw his squad in action. There were a few defects, but what we had was good; the trouble lay in what the team didn't have—reserves. The backfield looked all right, as did the first-string line. There was just nothing to send in there to spell off that handful of good linemen. The question was just how long the small George Washington line could withstand the burden before the toughness of the schedule would catch up with them. The result of the first four games assured us of a successful season, but Kansas and Maryland in a row hurt us.

Last Saturday, the Colonials went up against a mediocre Lafayette team that the Rowlandmen might well have beaten with the ability they had shown on almost any previous weekend. But the injuries had finally caught up with us. Our first four tackles—Fuela, Shipman, Diederich and Drayer—were on the sidelines and were not able to play. The game and willing Pete Cordelli moved up from the backfield to play tackle; Fred Samuelson played left tackle, a new cast on his broken arm.

Coach Rowland realized his shortcomings in the line. Perhaps the injured men were capable of plugging the gaps for a portion of the game, but the able Rowland decided to give the battered Colonial linemen another week of rest, desirous as they were of seeing action, rather than risk permanent injuries. Nevertheless, the Coach would be the last man in the world to alibi that it was the injuries alone that caused the Lafayette defeat.

The Buff squad, which now numbers 35 men, including those on the injured list, are agreed to a man on one thing—they're going to raise some coin with the rest of the schedule. And they'll go just as far as guts can carry a team—injuries notwithstanding. The morale is still there; the able Coach Rowland can be counted upon to utilize the abilities of his men to the utmost. We've had a good season; the boys think they can make it a great one. Two wins can do that, or even the big one—Georgetown.

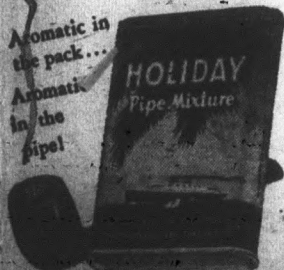

Varsity Tennis

• THE TENNIS ELIMINATIONS for the Varsity Tennis team will start shortly. Coach Bill Shreve, mentor for the varsity squad, announced that all men with high school, prep school and tournament experience should apply to his office at 2027 H Street.

Coach Shreve, former D. C. tennis champion and also holder of the District badminton singles and doubles championships, will coach the team this year, as he has for the past several years.

Sailing Team Places Third At King's Point

• AN UNDEFEATED COLONIAL Sailing Team went down before the assault of the Merchant Marine Academy and Hobart during the Associate Member Championships at King's Point, Long Island last weekend. Shaken by the loss of Team Captain Jack Smith who became dangerously ill during the trip to the Merchant Marine Academy the Colonials lost their Middle Atlantic Associate Championships, by a margin of nine points.

The worried team got off to a shaky start Saturday morning while the staff of the Academy Hospital worked over Smith.

Light winds and a strong current coupled with vengeful competition from the Academy, from whom the Colonials had taken the championship, set the Buff skippers back as at the end of the morning's racing they trailed by 14 points. They were able to trim the lead to about 10 points by the end of the day, but with Kings Point and Hobart tied with 48 points, the Colonials were in a hopeless position.

In a desperate attempt to pull the regatta out of the fire, in the closing races Eric Nordholm attempted twice to trap the leading opponent, Joe Slavin of King's Point. Slavin escaped each time by inches to take third as the Colonial led him across the line. Both times the King's Point skipper escaped Nordholm as the two skippers fought it out in the steadily increasing wind that began to beat the water of Long Island Sound into a nasty chop.

Pat Granger, with "Brandy" Cochran crewing, fought a similar tooth and nail scrap with Bill Smith of the Academy in the last two races, but again the Point was (See SAILING Page 15)

Colonials Eye Bulldogs As 2nd Conference Win

By Warren Gould

• "DISTINGUISHED IN MILITARY HISTORY, The Citadel was founded in 1842 and its students and graduates have bled and died in every war since." With this quotation in mind, a battle-weary George Washington football aggregation will maneuver to the banks of the Ashley River Saturday to assist in a little bleeding and dying—on the part of the Bulldogs, of course.

When the Colonials take to their battlefields in Charleston, South Carolina, Saturday, facing the Buff will be an adversary who with a 1-1-0 conference record, find themselves near neighbors of George Washington in the proletarian section of Southern Conference standing. Not considered a title contender, the Blue and White shared the top slot in loop ratings after an initial win over Davidson, but soon moved to the warmer climate to which they are accustomed by dropping a 10-0 decision to Furman.

While the Buff and Blue eleven was absorbing a drubbing in Lafayette, Coach J. Quinn Lewis' squad rested after knocking off Erskine the day before by a 19-0 count. This siesta should be helpful when the Citadel looks at the remainder of its schedule. Not only will the Bulldogs enter the Colonial fray the probable underdog, but VMI, Georgia Tech and Clemson tilts will see The Citadel in an unfavorable role.

After last Friday's victory over Erskine, the Bulldogs are at their offensive peak of the season. This offense has been carried by a squad that numbers few in 200 pounders and is composed for the most part of juniors and sophomores. For instance, the only senior appearing in the Blue and White backfield is blocking back Fritz Holcomb, while the other back assignments fall on the shoulders of juniors and soph.

Chuck Goodman works out of the quarterback slot and backing him up the Colonials will run into such names as Luke Dunfee, Joe Gregg (See CITADEL Page 15)

Lame Gridmen Lose, 33-14, To Lafayette

• IN A KNOCK-DOWN, drag-out game marked by a number of penalties for personal fouls and unnecessary roughness, an injury-ridden Colonial team lost to Lafayette, 33-14 at Easton, Pennsylvania, last Saturday.

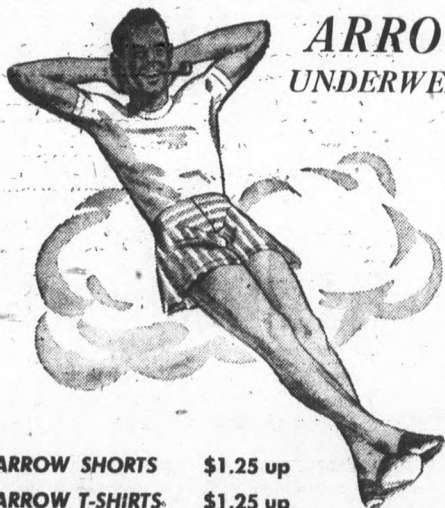

Offensive minded Lafayette, using the two team system so effectively employed by Maryland's Jim Tatum, scored early and often to grab a 20-0 lead in the very first quarter. Two long passes, coupled around one sustained drive, gave the Leopards an advantage which the weakened Colonials were unable to overcome.

It wasn't till late in the third quarter that the Buff were able to score, although a fumble on the Lafayette one yard line cost them a score just before the half.

With four tackles out of the George Washington line-up because of injuries, the Colonials were unable to stop the Pennsylvanians' ground attack. Once again a number of Buff gridders were called upon to perform iron-man feats. Stash Burak played (See LAFAYETTE Page 15)

Interfrats Hit Midway Mark With Three Still Undeclared

By Joe Barish

• INTERFRATERNITY FOOTBALL passed the midway mark in its drawn out season last Saturday and holding down first place in the standings was Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity. The AEPis gained this distinction by virtue of stopping a powerful Kappa Alpha crew with a one first down stalemate.

In a game featuring previously unbeaten Kappa Sig and once beaten Theta Delta Chi, the Theta Deltas proceeded to stamp themselves as the team to beat when they defeated the Sigs 7-0. After rolling up a 3-0 edge in first downs, Theta Delt late in the fourth period advanced deep into Sig territory when a short pass from Cavallo to Corky Krikorian accounted for the tally. The extra point was made on a pass from Cavallo to Dietz.

Next, Saturday morning in a game that will bear watching, the Theta Deltas will meet the league leading Alpha Epsilon Pi.

After going scoreless in their last two games, Phi Alpha unleashed their scoring talents against Sigma Phi Epsilon and pounded out a 20-0 decision. Phi Alpha's first tally resulted from a spot pass, Miller to Kolker. Miller went off tackle for the extra point. Again it was Miller passing to Goldberg who in turn lateraled to Kaiser to produce a second score. Kaiser toted the leather off left tackle for the extra point. Getting their hands on the ball late in the final period, the Red and Blue scored when Kaiser passed to Goldberg.

This game ended in a near riot, but all tempers combined could not affect the final result as Phi Sigma Kappa dropped TKE 6-0. The Phi Sig touchdown was scored by Stan Williams who intercepted a pass early in the last quarter and romped 40 yards to pay dirt.

It was Bill Shirey leading his Sigma Chi teammates again, this time to a 13-0 victory over Delta Tau Delta. Sigma Chi's first tally came when the former Central High gridded went around his left end for twenty five yards and the score. A pass from Henry to Barnes made the score 7-0. In the third period, Shirey intercepted a DTD pass and, behind good blocking, covered 45 yards for a tally.

Deadlines Set For Intramural

• THE INTRAMURAL COUNCIL met last week to discuss the policy of the Intramural program this year as regards eligibility and other organizational problems. The seven man Council is composed of Howard Ticklin and Bill Robertson, the two Interfraternity representatives, Phil King and Allen Evry, the two Independent members, one Veterans Club member—John Johnson, one Student Council member—Buddy Stein, and a member of the Hatchet Sports Staff, as yet to be appointed.

As they stand, the Intramural regulations give linkmen and netmen an additional four more days to get their entries in; the deadline has been extended to November 4. The golfers will play an 18 hole qualifying match and the low eight men will then play either match or medal. The tennis matches will be singles, to be held at the convenience of the participants.

The basketball deadline is now a week and a half away—November 10. Beginning Thursday, November 4, any of you basketball teams can reserve the Gym for one hour at night either from 7 to 8 or from 8 to 9 Monday through Friday.

Don't forget! All entries must be received by the Intramural Sports Office, 2127 G St., N. W.

Swett Bringing Frosh Linemen Into Shape

• COACH TIM SWETT, co-mentor of the Freshman football team, has turned out a well proportioned line this year. Swett, a former Colonial lineman from the late '30s, is well qualified to coach the forward wall.

Signed by the Washington Redskins as center in 1944, Swett was considered an excellent prospect for professional football that year. However, because a back injury sustained that same year, he was unable to play for the 'Skins. He spent the rest of the season as a scout for the team.

The material given Swett this year is mainly from out of town schools. The ends on the young Colonial team are Dave Shiver, Dean Crowther, Dick Freed, Roger Cole and Eddie Roberts. Roberts, an All State selection for the Oklahoma High Schools earned a total of ten letters. Dick Freed, a prep school boy from Westhaven, Conn., and two local boys from across the river in Virginia, Cole and Crowther complete the list of ends.

The guard slot is completely filled by Jimmie Shairrick, Ralph Portwine, Joe Fabian and Bernie Nathan. Fabian, whose educated toe has missed only one conversion this year, is a tower of strength in the line. "Stump" Shairrick, the smallest man on the squad, 5' 3", hails from Malvern, Arkansas. Portwine and Nathan both converted tackles handle their new jobs with efficiency.

The tackle position is handled by Joe Kennelly of Brooklyn, Jimmy Fennell from Kingston, Pa., and Ed Fitzpatrick a local boy from Anacostia High.

MEET THE ALUMNI

By ED LEWIS

• MIKE MONCHLOVICH, one of the Colonials' great gridmen, is back at G. W. now in the capacity of Trainer of Athletics.

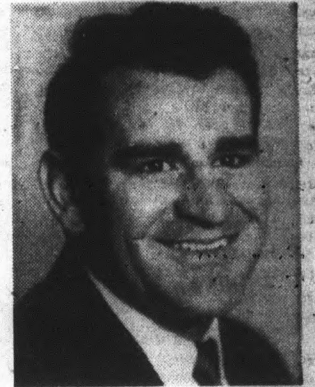

Mike was born in Johnstown, Pa., and attended high school in Carmichael, Pa., a small coal-mining town about 60 miles south of Pittsburgh. He won an athletic scholarship which brought him to George Washington in 1938. Upon his arrival here he played Frosh football, receiving his Freshman letter. In 1939 and 1940 he demonstrated his athletic prowess as the first-string center on the Buff eleven, winning two varsity letters.

In 1941, Mike was "assimilated" by the Army, becoming Private Mike Monchlovich of the Infantry. Later he entered O. C. S. at Fort Benning, Ga., from which he graduated as Second Lieutenant. After a promotion to First Lieutenant, Mike fought in the 9th Army Sector from Holland through the Siegfried Line to Berlin. He served as the Reconnaissance Officer of a Heavy Weapons Company. Among his decorations were the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star and the Silver Star with one oak-leaf cluster. His battalion also received the Presidential Unit Citation.

Mike was discharged from the Army in 1946, returning immediately to G. W. He lacked only 33 hours for his B.S. in Education, which he received in February of 1947. Mike has continued in the field of Education, working for his Master's; he has completed the prerequisites and will take the comprehensive this February.

Mr. Monchlovich started as Trainer of Athletics here in the fall of 1948 with the aid of George A. "Doc" Lentz, whom he succeeds. Mike also teaches P. E. 58, "Care and Treatment of Athletic Injuries", in affiliation with Mr. Lentz, who is quoted as saying, "I think Mike is going to be one of the outstanding trainers of college football in the United States; G. W. was very fortunate in procuring a man of his calibre."

Hoopsters Give Impressive Show In Scrimmaging Catholic U Five

• STILL ROLLING SMOOTHLY after their 59-26 win over Catholic University in a pre-season scrimmage, the Zahnmen are concentrating on a new type of offense in this week's practices.

High scorer with 13 points in the CU Tussle was Dave Shapiro, captain of the team.

Narrowed down to fifteen men, the squad will see more intensive drills and scrimmages before the opening game with Quantico here on December 3. With seven experienced lettermen returning, a few of whom already have two years of varsity ball under their belts, the squad should be a hot one.

Floorman Gene Witkin and newcomer John Nutman are expected to see a lot of action this season along with the old standbys, Small, McNiff, and Shapiro. Bill Cantwell, Ace Adler, and Maynard Halthcock will probably see plenty of action at the pivot spot, playing the same "big men" roles they did last year.

When the situation changes and the Colonials find themselves on the defensive, the Buff and Blue will be relying on their man to man set up to keep the scores down. McNiff, Halthcock, Adler, and Cantwell are among those cagers who will be expected to carry much of the defensive load.

RHODA DOWNS, campus tennis star, annexed another trophy last Saturday as she decisively outscored Clare Mills 6-1, 6-0, to win the Women's Singles Tennis Tournament.

Rhoda breezed thru the preliminaries with comparative ease, eliminating Lusadel Moore in the semi-finals to gain the playoff spot. Runner-up Clare Mills outplayed Charlotte Ostergren in the semi-finals to earn a try at the crown.

Rhoda will be awarded a tennis trophy by the Women's Recreation Association, and will receive 150 points toward the WRA letter. Another tennis tournament, for doubles players only, will be held in the Spring.

JOAN BRANNON WINS GOLF TOURNAMENT

Joan Brannon continues her reign over campus golfdom by virtue of her triumph in the tournament held last Saturday on the Haines Point golf course.

Joan had low score of 44 in the nine hole, WRA sponsored tourney. Lili Fox took second place with 51, while Jane Fyle scored 56 to take third.

The Women's Recreation Association will award Joan a trophy and 150 points toward the letter. Sally Ann Evans, golf manager, and Miss Marjorie Tate, adviser, have announced that the WRA will also sponsor a mixed Scotch golf match to be held in the Spring.

BUFF AND BLUE TO PLAY AT HOOD

Intercollegiate competition for the Colonial women begins Saturday, November 6, when archers, tennis, soccer, and hockey players travel to Hood College for the annual Triangular Sports Day.

George Washington will be represented by some of the best girls athletes in the city. Rhoda Downs, winner of the tennis tourney, will play again, and Gisela Sterling will be the chief soccer representative. Lynn Mitchell, top offensive hockey star, will compete on the hockey field.

The colleges will not play on a varsity basis, but will split the squads so that players from every school make up each team. This is done to take the primary emphasis off winning and to foster the "sport for the love of sport" spirit.

ISAB TENNIS TOURNAMENT WON BY DOWNS

Rhoda Downs, Delta Gamma, won her second tennis tourney in two days last Sunday afternoon as she defeated Lusadel Moore, Kappa Alpha Theta, 6-2, 6-1 to take top honors in the Inter-Sorority Athletic Board's first tournament.

Jane Fyle, Delta Gamma, was eliminated from the race by her sorority sister in the semi-finals 6-2, 6-1. In the other semi-final match Lusadel Moore defeated Kappa Alpha Thetas Lynn Mitchell, 6-2, 6-0.

Jean Maravalli was in charge of the tournament which was played on the 16th and Kennedy courts. Miss Virginia Dennis officiated.

Delta Gamma sorority will receive points for Rhoda's victory which will be credited toward the Inter-Sorority Athletic Board Cup, presented annually to the sorority most outstanding in sports competition.

NC, Clemson Rest on Top In Dixie Loop

THREE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE tussles last weekend left the situation exactly as it was a week ago with North Carolina and Clemson sharing the number one spot while George Washington rested firmly in the company of North Carolina State and Richmond in thirteenth place.

VMI tripped Davidson, Wake Forest humbled North Carolina State, and William and Mary stopped Richmond in the only conference action. In other games, Clemson, Maryland, The Citadel and North Carolina were the only conference members able to take the measure of outside competition as VPI, Washington and Lee, George Washington, South Carolina, and Duke all dropped non-conference battles.

	Won	Lost	Tied
Duke	2	0	1
William and Mary	4	1	0
Maryland	3	1	0
Wake Forest	3	1	0
VMI	3	1	0
Furman	2	2	0
N. C. State	1	3	0
Richmond	1	3	0
George Washington	1	3	0
Washington and Lee	0	1	0
Davidson	0	4	0
VPI	0	4	0

The coming weekend should prove decisive as far as certain title hopes are concerned. William and Mary entertain North Carolina at Williamsburg and an Indian triumph could upset the standings. Duke takes on a stubborn Wake Forest club, while Clemson is rated to stay on top as the Tigers travel to meet Furman's Purple Hurricanes.

Maryland can move up in the standings with a win over South Carolina, but the Terps' crucial test will come November 13 when North Carolina rolls the Choo choo Charlie Justice express on to the field at Griffith Stadium.

Lafayette

(Continued from Page 13) all but one minute of the game, after a 60 minute stint at quarterback against Maryland last Saturday. Andy Davis played all but two and a half minutes of the game, as he added another 207 yards to his total offensive record.

Charley Gunner, Jim Regan, and Dixie Howell carried the brunt of the duty at the guard slots, and even alternated at the undermanned tackle positions with Fred Samuelson and Pete Cordell.

Independent League Action Starts With Two Battles

ALTHOUGH ONLY TWO games were on tap the Independent Intramural Football League got off to a slam-bang start last Sunday morning. Both contents were tight right to the wire and only as the final whistle sounded to end the games could the victors be determined.

An underdog Hillel team held a rangy Dodger outfit to two first downs, that is, until two and a half minutes before the final whistle. At that point Gross took the ball on what seemed like a harmless end run around the left, but which carried 17 yards across the Hillel goal. A 25 yard pass from Feldman to Baroff set up Gross's run. Gross's running and Feldman's passing kept Hillel bottled up in their own territory most of the game.

After a good deal of dispute as to who had access to the East field, the Independents or the players of the AEPI—Ka game, the Independent Draper Hall—Andy Farkas game was played on the West field. Although an underdog Draper Hall team pushed across a first down in the second quarter, the lead at time seemed rather insignificant, but it gained in stature as the fourth quarter started with Draper Hall still leading by one first down.

Throughout the fourth quarter the two teams saw-sawed back and forth, both of them penetrating deep into each other's territory, but not crossing each other's goal line. Pasco's running and his passes to lanky Christians kept Draper Hall in the game until the final whistle, not to mention the great game played by an outweighed Draper line. Caruso's passes could have been the answer to a Farkas victory but somehow or other something didn't click.

The fourth quarter ended, with the final score reading: Draper Hall—1 First Down—Andy Farkas.—0 First Downs.

Annie Oakleys Planning Big Rifle Season

SETTING HER SIGHTS on the national rifle championship, Rifle Manager Helen Joy opens the coming season with a meeting for all interested girls to be held Thursday, November 4, at 4 p.m. in room D103.

Hoping to restore George Washington to its once high position in rifle competition, Helen has been making plans for telegraphic shoots and shoulder-to-shoulder matches. She has announced that there will be more practice hours available, with plenty of ammunition.

A new coach has been obtained, according to Miss Atwell of the Women's Physical Education Dept. He will be at the range for coaching from 3 to 5 Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and other hours may be arranged.

Many of last year's team members are again in school, and with these experienced rifers as a nucleus, with the addition of many girls who shot in high school, and with the new coach, the teams promises to be even better than the squad which placed 5th in the nation in 1947.

Mickey Tolan, who won the National Individual Rifle Championship that year, is no longer in school, but Pat Lawlor, who placed 4th in 1947, will again shoot with the team.

Any girls who are interested in becoming members of the team may go to the meeting on Thursday, November 4, in D 103 for further information.

ory, Marty Gershon, and from Washington, D. C., Al Bohlen. To watch Bill Spangler's hefty punting. The Citadel boast Wadere Shaid, who outdistanced every opposing kicker in 1947.

Out in front, line coach Bob Suffridge has molded a hard charging forward that has made up in aggressiveness what it lacks in weight. The Bulldog line's ability to hold back the surging invaders from George Washington may well determine The Citadel's chances.

As for the Buff, Bo Rowland sends against his former gridiron aspirants, a squad that has not received any of that southern hospitality since upsetting Virginia a month ago. The Colonials had almost forgotten what their opponents goal line looked like until punching across two tallies in the Lafayette tussle.

As of Sunday, the George Washington eleven had returned from Pennsylvania with no serious injuries resulting from that journey to plague the club. Andy Davis will have in front of him a line probably consisting of Butler, Feula, Gunner, Grinnell, Howell, Shipman and Bartelloni, while Dugoff, Kline and Burak will be among the ball toters.

able to escape the trapping attempts of the tired girl, and the buff sailors were able to gain only one point during the day on the confident King's. Pointers who finished nine points ahead of the Colonials with 68 points.

Hobart followed the Academy with 65 points while the Colonials finished a heartbreaking third with 59.

The loss of Smith to the Buffmen will be a serious blow. Reserve strength will be drawn upon until Smith is back on his feet, with George Collins, freshman sensation relieving the veteran skippers during the gruelling races left in the season.

Fencing Club Meets

FENCING CLUB will hold a regular meeting tonight in the gym at 8:15. Election of officers for the new year will be held and it is expected that a few replies will have been received from some of the universities expected to compete with them. The club has written a number of colleges asking for bouts and affirmative answers should be forthcoming in the near future.
